MARINO: "Every animal here has been given a second chance at life. Angel's Gate gives them the opportunity to grow and have a happy life, but we can't do that without the support of our community and contributors. The Gala allows our supporters to come together and raise money for our organization while having a good time."

ANNOUNCER: The Gala is a formal event that draws many celebrities, political figures, and socialites from the New York area. Special guests and contributors of the Gala include Martha Stewart, Oprah Winfrey (WIN-FREE) and Jennifer Garner. Oprah Winfrey, major contributor, explains her interests in the organization and the event.

WINFREY: "Angel's Gate is an extraordinary place that gives so much love and support to each animal it houses. Every year, I look forward to this event and raising money for this organization that reaches out to the New York community and provides care to so many unwanted animals."
